Bluegrass Lawn Maintenance Program

The following program would be for the entire growing season beginning with fall overseeding.

September: - Aerify and or dethatch with power rake and overseed bluegrass at 2 lbs per 1000 sq ft (one bag covers 20,000 sq ft). Cut that back to 1 ½ lbs per 1000 and you cover 33,000 sq ft. Combine this with a good starter fertilizer like Country Club 13-25-12 at 5 lbs per 1000 (one bag covers 8,000 sq ft). Our STP private label, Mears 10-18-22, would be another good choice.

November: Around Thanksgiving time or little after, apply Par Ex 24-4-12 at eight (8) lbs per 1000 sq ft. One bag covers approximately 6,000 sq ft. This is your winterizer and is being applied at a double rate. One bag normally covers 12,000 sq ft. We double it in November because the slow release nitrogen will feed roots all winter long.

March 15 Prox: Apply Regal Star II as spring fertilizer and crabgrass control. This is our most premium fertilizer and weed control pre-emerge. Be sure and remember to apply to dry turf only. If you put it down in the morning dew, then you will discolor your turf for about four weeks.

June 15 Prox: Apply Lebanon 15-2-5 with Merit insecticide. One bag covers 10,000 sq ft. This will give you grub control for the season, along with a small rate of fertilizer (just enough to get you through the summer).

September: Repeat seeding and starter as a good agronomic practice. If lawn is excellent and you decide not to overseed then apply Par Ex 24-4-12 at single rate (one bag covers 12,000 sq ft).

Broadleaf weed control can be maintained in a couple of different blends of fertilizer. I really prefer just spot treating with the new herbicide Q4. No need to treat the whole yard with a weed & feed when you only have weeds scattered around. I use Q4 at 2 to 3 oz per gal of spray. If you choose not to spray, then we do have Anderson 18-5-9 Weed & Feed. This one you do apply on a wet dew morning, and don't water for at least 24 hours. One bag covers 10,000 sq ft.

The following are prices effective Spring 2007:

Soil Sampling is a great idea. We provide that service. Samples run from $20 to $50 each, depending on how detailed you want.

The most important part of any lawn care program is to have a properly calibrated spreader & sprayer.

Always read and follow the label directions on all products you apply. Pay special attention to proper clothing and eye protection.
